Questionnaire on copper 'coils' and Mirena (Intra-uterine contraception )

ID No. <<>>

This survey is about the kind of contraception that sits in the womb.

These types of contraception are called intra-uterine contraception, but are frequently referred to as contraceptive coils.

There are two types of intra-uterine contraception.

1. One type is a copper coil.

This is also known as an intra-uterine device (IUD).

This is a hormonal device that sits in the womb.

In this questionnaire we will use the terms "copper coil" and "Mirena"

The Participant Information Sheet that came with this questionnaire will give you more details about why this research is being conducted and what will happen to the questionnaire if you fill it in. Please read through it before deciding whether to take part.

Please answer all the questions if you can, but remember you can leave out any question that you do not want to answer.

When you have finished please put the questionnaire in the box marked 'Completed Questionnaires'. The receptionist can point it out to you.
