

Appendix 2: Grey Literature

Gray literature including, but not limited to, UNICEF, Harvard School of Public Health, healthsystems2020, Ifakara Health Institute (IHI), Institute of Tropical Medicine, Belgium, KfW Development Bank (KfW Entwicklungsbank), London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, Management Sciences for Health (MSH), Marie Stopes International, Pan American Health Organization, Population Council, Population Services International, Guttmacher Institute, Swiss Tropical Institute, US Agency for International Development (USAID), Web of Science/Web of Social Science, Web of Science / Web of Social Science (includes indexed articles, technical reports and conference abstracts as well), IUSSP (<http://iusp.org/>), ICFP (<http://www.fpconference2013.org/>), Grey Literature Report: <http://greyLit.org/> World Bank databases, and sexual rights initiative, sexual and reproductive health and research of the WHO <http://www.who.int/library/databases/en/>, Africa (AIM) <http://indexmedicus.afro.who.int/>, Latin America and the Caribbean (LILACS): <http://bases.bvs.br/>, South-East Asia (IMSEAR) <http://www.hellis.org/>, Eastern Mediterranean (IMEMR) <http://www.emro.who.int/HIS/VHSL/>, Western Pacific (WPRIM) <http://wprim.wpro.who.int/iah/l/index.htm>, etc.